winner of the 2017 symposium book award presented by symposium canadian journal of continental philosophy community has been both celebrated and demonized as a fortress that shelters and defends its members from being exposed to difference instead of abandoning community as an antiquated model of relationships that is ill suited for our globalized world this book turns to the writings of giorgio agamben roberto esposito and jean luc nancy in search for ways to rethink community in an open and inclusive manner greg bird argues that a central piece of this task is found in how each philosopher rearticulates community not as something that is proper to those who belong and improper to those who are excluded or where inclusion is based on one's share in common property we must return to the forgotten dimension of sharing not as a sharing of things that we can contain and own but as a process that divides us up and shares us out in community with one another this book traces this problem through a wide array of fields ranging from biopolitics communitarianism existentialism phenomenology political economy radical philosophy and social theory

this book contains a series of articles written by international experts in the fields of intellectual disability and quality of life that explore a broad range of issues that impact on the quality of life of people with intellectual disabilities and their families the book commences with a general discussion on defining quality of life and family quality of life and the appropriateness of using these constructs in the field of intellectual disability and is followed by an analysis on the effects of living arrangements and employment on quality of life the book concludes with discussions on the unique issues facing children with intellectual disabilities and people living in developing countries and the effect these issues have upon their quality of life
