whilst recognising that distinctly different traditions exist within the study and practice of urban design this book advances an interdisciplinary and innovative approach which is of direct importance to understanding the urban forms conditions practices and processes it enthuses and inspires users who are grappling with urban design research problems but who need inspiration to move from idea to methodological approach through the work of 32 urban researchers from the arts sciences and social sciences it demonstrates a wide range of problems and approaches and shows how the diverse range of complementary approaches can come together to provide a holistic understanding to the design of cities while each of the contributors presents a particular approach to researching the field sometimes focusing centrally on particular research methodologies others cutting across methods or focusing on theory all include discussion of actual research projects to illustrate their application to real world problems this book will be valuable to everyone from the informed undergraduate student about to embark on their first dissertation to phd students and seasoned researchers immersed in methodological and conceptual complexity and wishing to compare available and appropriate methodological paths

this book challenges the conventional modernist inspired understanding of urbanization as a universal process tied to the ideal typical model of the modern metropolis with its origins in the grand western experience of city building at the start of the twenty first century the familiar idea of the city or urbanism as we know it has experienced such profound mutations in both structure and form that the customary epistemological categories and prevailing conceptual frameworks that predominate in conventional urban theory are no longer capable of explaining the evolving patterns of city making global urbanism has increasingly taken shape as vast distended city regions where urbanizing landscapes are increasingly fragmented into discontinuous assemblages of enclosed enclaves characterized by global connectivity and concentrated wealth on the one side and distressed zones of neglect and impoverishment on the other these emergent patterns of what might be called enclave urbanism have gone hand in hand with the new modes of urban governance where the crystallization of privatized regulatory regimes has effectively shielded wealthy enclaves from public oversight and interference this edited volume brings together debates from the global south and global east to explore alternatives to conventional planning in southern cities embracing the evolving post colonial theory the volume offers fragments of the urban that provide clues to the larger often repeated ontological question that continues to hold why and what does theory from the south mean the chapters derive from and speak to the simultaneously homogenous and heterogeneous south they focus on presenting the alternative realities of southern cities as critical analytical lenses that can build up to the theorisation of the southern urban with a potential to re understand the contemporary urban world the contributions explore locally rooted knowledge systems premised on social and cultural practices as possible conduits to evolving planning methods in doing so the volume breaks apart the linear modernity that urban theory from the north relies on chapters chapter 1 and chapter 11 are available open access under a creative commons attribution 4 0 international license via link springer com
