this book is concerned with the evaluation of natural argumentative discourse and in particular with the language in which arguments are expressed it introduces a systematic procedure for the analysis and assessment of arguments which is designed to be a practical tool and may be considered a pseudo algorithm for argument evaluation the first half of the book lays the theoretical groundwork with a thorough examination of both the nature of language and the nature of argument this leads to a definition of argumentation as reasoning expressed within a procedure which itself yields the three frames of analysis used in the evaluation procedure process reasoning and expression the second half begins with a detailed discussion of the concept of fallacy with particular attention on fallacies of language their origin and their effects a new way of looking at fallacies emerges from these chapters and it is that conception together with the understanding of the nature of argumentation described in earlier sections which ultimately provides the support for the comprehensive assessment procedure for natural argumentation the first two levels of this innovative procedure are outlined while the third that dealing with language and involving the development of an informal argument semantics is fully described the use of the system and its power of analysis are illustrated through the evaluation of a variety of examples of argumentative texts this volume includes a collection of eighteen essays that provide a decisive input to the study of logic and argumentation theory by some of the finest specialists in these areas covering the main schools of thought and contemporary trends at the beginning of the 21st century in these essays the authors clarify the status of what we currently call ambiguously and problematically logic and argumentation theory and discuss the no less controversial issue of the relationship between these two concepts when applied to the study of argumentation and its problems at the same time they take stock of the most recent developments of argumentation theory considered as an ongoing research subject it is the first time in the last few decades that a work this comprehensive and up to date on such matters has been published this volume is an essential tool for all of those interested in the study of the relations between logic and argumentation particularly at the university level it provides not only an introduction to these subjects but also the necessary framework for further specialised research development in the future
