in Look a Negro political theorist Robert Gooding Williams imaginatively and impressively unpacks fundamental questions around race and racism inspired by Frantz Fanon's famous description of the profound effect of being singled out by a white child with the words Look a Negro. His book is an insightful, rich, and unusually wide-ranging work of social criticism. These essays engage themes that have dominated debates on race and racial identity in recent years: the workings of racial ideology including the interplay of gender and sexuality in the articulation of racial ideology; the viability of social constructionist theories of race; the significance of Afrocentrism and multiculturalism for democracy; the place of Black identity in the imagination and articulation of America's inheritance of philosophy and the conceptualization of African American politics in post-segregation America. Look a Negro will be of interest to philosophers, political theorists, critical race theorists, students of cultural studies and film, and readers concerned with the continuing importance of race consciousness to democratic culture in the United States.

Remapping China at the East-West Intersection is composed predominantly from back copies of Critical Arts. It draws on the rich reservoir of studies that map a diverse range of research on Chinese literature, art, and culture at the intersection of East-West encounters. This compilation offers a comprehensive exploration of Chinese cultural studies through the lens of global dialogism and intercultural exchange, structured into four thematic sections: Overview, Chinese Narratives, Chinese Art and China, and New Media. The book brings together twenty scholarly articles that collectively examine the complexities and nuances of Chinese culture in a global context. The Overview section sets the stage by discussing the scope, methodology, and perspectives of cultural studies from an interhemispherical viewpoint. It is followed by the Chinese Narratives section, in which scholars critically engage with traditional Chinese narrative forms and their reception in Western contexts. The next section on Chinese Art focuses on the intersection of traditional and contemporary chinese art forms finally the china and new media section addresses the impact of digital technologies on chinese culture through these diverse perspectives this book not only contributes to ongoing academic discourses but also deepens the understanding of china s cultural heritage and its evolving role in the global context this volume re presents for an international audience a set of theories methodologies and studies that have been both shaped by and have themselves influenced global trends by integrating interdisciplinary and dialogic approaches the book offers fresh insights into the dynamic exchange and interactions between chinese and western cultures postmodernism and japan is a coherent yet diverse study of the dynamics of postmodernism as described by lyotard baudrillard deleuze and guatarri from the often startling perspective of a society bent on transforming itself into the image of western enlightenment wealth and power this work provides a unique view of a society in transition and confronting like its models in the west the problems induced by the introduction of new forms of knowledge modes of production and social relationships abbott offers a fruitful new way to read science fiction one that also greatly enriches our understanding of western history and its impact on our collective imagination detailing the overlap of science fiction and western fiction especially relating to their mutual interest in and concerns about frontier expansionism he reveals an unsuspected common ground that informs the writings of both camps reviewing the work of many hugo and nebula award winners as well as drawing upon popular film and television series like the buck rogers serials abbott s study journeys across the far reaches of science fiction s universe
